More American Made Needed!
Radio Commentary from Saturday, June 27, 2013

As I discuss the Buy American Made Campaign with business owners, I find that businesses making quality products in the U.S.A. often must work harder to get their products to market then suppliers offering foreign made goods. This is mainly because merchandisers can make more money from foreign made products so they feature them on their sales lists. However, in most cases consumers pay the same for those items at the cash register whether they are foreign or American made. As more Americans choose to spend their dollars on American made products and hold out on some of their purchases, our message for a larger selection of American made continues to be heard by business owners and investors who see that selling something is better than selling nothing.

We can discuss a thousand ways to make change happen, but the demands and actions of customers at the cash register is what really makes a major impact. As stores feature more American made and those items move off the shelves more quickly, they will be replaced by more American made products.

During my conversations with business owners I encourage them to be very direct with their suppliers, tell them loud and clear, “we want more American made on our supply list because this is what our customers are requesting”. I tell them to let their suppliers know that customers want to keep Americans on the job and keep more of our own dollars circulating in the U.S.A.

As you can see for yourself, companies that outsourced manufacturing are now in competition with the companies that operate in the U.S.A. and the large imbalance between foreign and domestic products is deeply hurting America’s private sector businesses and American workers. When people ask me how important I feel restoring JOBS in America is to the general public, my reply is, “If we want to see tens of millions of Americans employed once again, supporting the Buy American Made Campaign is not only patriotic, it’s common sense”.

American Workers Need You!

You are urged to purchase products made in America to help:

1. Create a demand for American made items.
2. Support business of all sizes that manufacture products in the U.S.A.
3. Maintain the jobs we have in the U.S.A.
4. Expand employment opportunities and revitalize America's economy.
5. Bring about a 50% balance between imported and American made items in U.S. stores.

As you consider making your purchase, look at the labels on items to see if they are imported, and if there are competitive American made items available. Support America's workers representing small and large businesses, non-union and union, and the self-employed. Spread the word to your family and friends and ask them to look for, ask for, and purchase American made items everywhere they shop so we can bring about positive changes in America's economy.

Seeing For Myself!

Radio Commentary from Saturday, July 20, 2013

Based on responses to my commentaries and radio broadcasts, many people find that checking labels to see where products are made is an eye opening experience.

During the last few months, I was asked to visit a few MEGA STORES to see first hand the number of American made items they had to offer. When I toured the stores, managers showed me the items now available and told me if more American made items were available from

American distributors in the large quantities needed to supply MEGA STORES, more American made products would be on sale. From what I saw, the large majority of food items are made in the U.S.A. When it comes to clothing, shoes, electronics, furniture and hundreds of others, foreign made dominate the stores. But I also saw there are clearly many new opportunities for American businesses to manufacture and distribute their products to both local and MEGA stores.

What I saw again is that for too many years, America's businesses outsourced manufacturing so now foreign products dominate America's stores. My visits also showed me that there is no reason that America's businesses could not meet the challenge and get more American made clothing, shoes, electronics, furniture and other items back in circulation in a reasonable about of time.

Realistically, when you look at where America finds itself today, business and elected leaders did not consider the problems outsourcing would cause America's economy. It's time for America's leaders to do their job and get America's economy back to where it should be.

I encourage you to contact your national and state elected officials. To assist you there is a new easy to use link located on the front page of AmericanWorkersRadio.com. It directs you to the name, address, telephone number and email address of all national and state level elected officials. Try it out and keep me posted.

Leadership Is Lacking!

Radio Commentary from Saturday, June 22, 2013

When we look back at better times in America, our national leaders were more focused on the needs of the American people. For over two hundred years all types of businesses expanded in America and jobs and job skills kept people employed. What happened? Some business investors wanted more profit so they shipped their production centers overseas. Some wanted to avoid the rising cost of labor, taxes, insurance and regulations so they kept their business offices in America, but shipped manufacturing around the world.

Because the loss of jobs and industries remained unaddressed by America's national leaders, tens-of-millions of Americans are now unemployed, manufacturing facilities are closing, job skills are dwindling and still there are no national elected officials leading the cause for JOBS in the U.S.A. I feel elected leaders should have sat down with private sector business leaders years ago to address the loss of jobs in America and the need to restore at least 50% of every item available for sale in America with made in the U.S.A. labels.

To insure that our message for change in America continues to be heard, speak up where you shop and look for made in the U.S.A. labels. I also encourage you to contact all of your elected officials this week and remind them that their efforts to secure jobs for Americans has nothing to do with any particular political party; but is the right thing to do for the well-being of the American people. Thanks for spreading the word and for supporting American workers!
